"THE BRIGHTEST BOOK OF THE YEAR"

L. M. MONTGOMERY'S

ANNE OF GREEN GABLES

When a retail dealer disposes of 250 copies of a single book in one week, it may be said fairly to have caught on. This is what one Boston bookseller has done with ANNE OF GREEN GABLES, and, to use his expression, "It has only begun to go. It will be one of the big late Summer and Fall sellers." Re orders from other sections of the country indicate the same enthusiasm and interest in the book. WATCH YOUR STOCK.

MARY JOHNSTON'S

Author of
"To Have and to Hold"

Lewis Rand

There are three excellent reasons why this new book by Miss Johnston should have a greater popularity than her other novels. First—It deals with a familiar and favorite epoch in American history—the South when the great plantations were in their prime and life combined the romance and adventure of earlier days with the culture and refinement of civilization. Second—Such noted men as Jefferson, Hamilton and Burr figure with life-like reality in its pages. Third—It is a tremendous story of a Napoleonic temperament. Lewis Rand is as strange and strong a character as has ever been created by an American author since Hawthorne wrote "The Scarlet Letter." The story is as different from any other American novel as can be imagined. It is completely absorbing, wonderfully well written, and it sways the readers as only a big novel can.

CLARA LOUISE BURNHAM'S

The Leaven of Love

The story of an estrangement, the subsequent complications between man and wife, and the effect which the sweet, unselfish nature of the young girl has upon the future happiness of the couple. This is in brief the plot which Mrs. Burnham skilfully weaves into a love story of unusual attraction.

Of the leading characters in the story, Sybil will probably stand forth as the most complex and altogether charming. Mrs. Burnham's heroines always hold the center of the stage from the rise to the fall of the curtain, and they invariably stand for what is best, strongest and sweetest in American womanhood.

Mrs. Burnham never fails to tell a story which interests, pleases and helps the reader, and "The Leaven of Love" will not soon be forgotten.

NOTES IN SEASON.

BRENTANO'S will publish early next month a new edition of "The New Baby's Biography," by A. O. Kaplan, revised and considerably enlarged, with new drawings and designs in color by Ruth Mary Hallock. The illustrations are a special feature in this new edition.

THE MACMILLAN COMPANY have in preparation a work on "The Flowers and Gardens of Japan," by Florence Du Cane, with fifty full-page illustrations in color, by Ella Du Cane; also, "Ancient Tales and Folk Lore of Japan," by J. Gordon Smith, with a number of illustrations reproduced in colors.

J. B. LIPPINCOTT COMPANY, in response to many demands for a two-volume edition of the Rev. William L. Worcester's work "On Holy Ground," have just published an edition of this excellent book in that form. The work has been divided into (v. I.) The Old Testament, and (v. II.) The Gospels. Either volume may be had separately if desired.

THE L. W. WALKER COMPANY, successors to the Monarch Book Co., 123 Plymouth Court, Chicago, Ill., have just ready for the trade a "Democratic Campaign Song Book," by Fred. T. Loftin. The book contains campaign songs for Democratic gatherings, marching and glee clubs, arranged for popular airs. The book is put up in paper covers and retails for ten cents.

DANA ESTES & Co. have just ready a helpful book for young housekeepers, entitled "Living on a Little," by Caroline French Benton. It has been the author's intention to provide practical information for the inexperienced housekeeper to enable them so to arrange their living expenses as to realize the best results and make both ends meet even in these times of inordinately high prices.

LOTHROP, LEE & SHEPARD Co. will publish on September 2 a new book by George Cary Eggleston, entitled "Two Gentlemen of Virginia," with illustrations by Frank T. Merrill. In this story the author tells, with great feeling and deep knowledge, how a young man who had won prosperity in the West, inherited a run-down plantation with its outfit of negroes, in connection with whom the young master tried interesting social experiments. As a love story, it is charming; as a picture of the "Old Régime," it is matchless. They will bring out at the same time a new story by Charles Clark Munn, entitled "Myrtle Baldwin," with illustrations by Henry Roth.

THE BAKER & TAYLOR COMPANY publish today "The Car and the Lady," by Percy F. Megargel and Grace Sartwell Mason, an automobile story that promises to "catch on." They have in preparation a new novel by Mabel Barnes-Grundy, author of "Hazel of Heatherland," entitled "Hilary on Her Own," a study of a strong-minded young English girl who rebels against the tyranny of a sordid household and goes to London on her own responsibility to make her fortune. They also have under way another volume in their Appreciation Series, by Charles H. and Caroline A. Caffin, entitled "The Appreciation of the Drama." In this book the authors trace the development of the drama through the Greek tragedy, Christian morality and miracle plays, Italian and French farce, pageant and allegorical presentation, Shakespeare's plays, the dramas of Ben Jonson, Congreve, and Sheridan down to our own times. Several chapters are given to the work of the modern playwrights—Ibsen, Shaw, Hauptmann, Belasco, Fitch and others.

Author is professor of Latin in the University of Virginia. The investigation upon which these results are based has nothing to do with the particular question as to the nature of the Latin accent. It shows merely that, whatever be its precise tone, Latin accent falls rhythmically in Latin speech, and thus determines for the native versification an original rhythm of accent, and not as in Greek with its arhythmic accent and original rhythm of quantity.—Introduction.

Author is assistant in the clinic of Hofrat von Neusser, Vienna. He believes the study of pain to be the starting point of the diagnostic train of reasoning because it is often the first evidence of disease, because careful consideration of the patient's own sensations is essential where comprehensive investigation of all objective symptoms is impossible, and because it is this very symptom of pain that impels the patient to seek medical advice. The book is intended to serve as a guide in the rapid and correct interpretation and successful treatment of the pain occurring in internal diseases.

Warren, Maude Radford. The land of the living: a novel. N. Y., Harper, 1908. c. 314 p. il. D. cl., $1.50.

The "Land of the living" is America; the particular section, the political circles of Chicago. A typical "boss," a warm-hearted Irishman of flexible moral code, adopts a waif, educates him for a lawyer, and takes him to Ireland to see "the land of the dead." A young Irish girl, the starving scion of an old race is tempted by reports to try her fortunes in Chicago. She becomes companion, instructor and generally useful helper. The lawyer sees through the political "morality," refuses to act with his patron, and brings about a combination of circumstances in which the underlying love stories are worked to satisfactory issues.

The principal aim has been to present concisely those ideas most important to a general understanding of the natural relation existing between life and health, together with an explanation of the laws which render mental healing possible. Another purpose has been to set forth the demonstrated facts of metaphysical healing in such a manner that inquiring minds may be enabled personally to examine through the experiences of those around them some of the common lines of mental action in which proofs are obtainable that mind both causes and cures disease.—Preface.

The Publishers' Weekly.

FOUNDED BY F. LEYPOLDT.

AUGUST 8, 1908.

The editor does not hold himself responsible for the views expressed in contributed articles or communications.

All matter for advertising pages should reach this office not later than Wednesday noon, to insure insertion in the same week's issue.

Publishers are requested to furnish title-page proofs and advance information of books forthcoming, both for entry in the lists and for descriptive mention. An early copy of each book published should be forwarded, as it is of the utmost importance that the entries of books be made as promptly and as perfectly as possible. In many cases booksellers and librarians depend on the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY solely for their information. The Record of New Publications of the PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY is the material of the "American Catalog," and so forms the basis of trade bibliography in the United States.

"I hold every man a debtor to his profession, from the which, as men do of course seek to receive countenance and profit, so ought they of duty to endeavor themselves by way of amends to be a help and an ornament thereunto."—LORD BACON.

HINTS FOR THE SUMMER.

DURING the summer months, which nowadays extend almost to October, it will be well for the bookseller to learn to keep cool by every means at his command. We have already pointed out the importance of keeping the store cool, well aired and roomy. It is just as important that the bookseller and his assistants give the impression of being cool inside the store, however aggravating the weather outside, and the crankiness of their customers.

Keeping cool is a detail that may be easily acquired. Light clothing and proper diet help considerably, but the essential is self-control. The bookseller must not get nervous or rattled. He must not let a little rush of business during the heated term excite him so much that he cannot properly attend to it. Let him take things as they come, in an easy way. Fretting and fuming do not help any—they only induce perspiration.

This, of all seasons of the year, is the one in which to cultivate sociability. As far as possible let the proprietor of the store possess himself of an easy frame of mind, and take an interest in those who are buying—a luxury in which he cannot always indulge himself during the fall and holiday season, much as he may desire to do so. If at any time he may become closer acquainted with a newcomer let him show himself eager to be of service, and impress upon his customer the feeling that his is a home store, where accommodation may be found alike for the one in easy circumstances as well as for those who are obliged to be economical, in short, where everything is made as pleasant as possible for all, whether they may buy liberally or whether they may choose to buy not at all.

Every possible allowance should be made for the fussy or impatient customer. These may have been obliged to walk about in the heated streets, or have been subjected to annoyance in their shopping tours, while the storekeeper has been under shelter. A little patient attention and well-tempered sympathy with his customer's grievances without a display, however, of exasperating coolness, will do much to calm a customer, as will the comfortable surroundings of a well-kept store.

Then, shorter hours—from nine in the morning until five in the afternoon should suffice during the hot spell—and a half holiday on Saturday, will do much to keep up the spirits of the principal and his assistants, and help to bridge over until the weather conditions become more favorable.

BUCKRAM OR SHEEP.

THE problem of binding is, or has been, a hard one for the law librarian to solve, but at the present time there seems to be a ray of light ahead.

At the second annual meeting of the American Association of Law Libraries, held at Asheville, N. C., May 24-28, 1907, a resolution was adopted requesting the publishers of the various reports, digests, statutes, etc., to bind a sufficient number of copies of their publications in the buckram or cloth binding to supply the libraries preferring that kind of binding. In accordance with this resolution a committee on binding was appointed, and the report rendered at the third annual meeting, held at Minnetonka, Minn., June 22-27, 1908, is as follows:

The following reports can now be obtained in cloth binding: United States Circuit Court of Appeals Reports, United States Interstate Commerce Commission, United States Supreme Court Reports.

Alaska.	New Jersey Equity.
Arkansas.	New York Appellate.
California.	New York Civil Pro-
California Appeals.	cedure.
Colorado.	New York Appeals.
Connecticut.	New York Criminal.
District of Columbia.	New York Miscella-
Georgia.	neous.
Georgia Appeals.	North Carolina.
Illinois.	Ohio State.
Illinois Appellate.	Ohio Circuit N. S.
Illinois Circuit.	Ohio Circuits.
Iowa.	Ohio Nisi Prius.

Kansas.	Oregon.
Kentucky.	Pennsylvania.
Louisiana.	Pennsylvania Superior.
Massachusetts.	Porto Rico.
Michigan.	Texas.
Minnesota.	Texas Civil Appeals.
Mississippi.	Utah.
Missouri.	Virginia.
Montana.	Wisconsin.
New Jersey Law.

This report is very gratifying, inasmuch as it shows that we can now continue 47 sets of reports in the buckram or cloth binding.

Publishers generally and the majority of law librarians have realized the superior qualities of the buckram binding, and the reason it has not been used more extensively by publishers is due to two causes. First, it is difficult to persuade the lawyer who has built up a library of sheep bound books to buy them bound in any other material.

The second objection is the various grades and colors of buckram that have been used. We can all go to our shelves and pick out books bound in light yellow, dark yellow, grey, brown, and even red. What we need now is to have the publishers agree on a standard grade of buckram in a color that will correspond as nearly as possible with our sheep bound books.

The best sheep bound books rarely last over seven years, whereas the buckram bound books last indefinitely. Owing to the extremely large bills for rebinding which have been a continual drain on the law libraries during the last few years, the American Association of Law Libraries felt it their duty to take some action in this matter, and in inducing so many publishers to use the buckram binding they have conferred a favor not only upon all the law libraries, but upon the entire legal profession.

AMERICAN LAW LIBRARY, New York City.

REDUCED RATES FOR MERCHANTS TO NEW YORK.

THIS season's merchants' reduced rates, a fare and one-half for the round trip, effective under the certificate plan, will apply to New York City from the territories of the Western Passenger Association and the Southwestern Excursion Bureau. These rates have been arranged by the Merchants' Association of New York. The first-named section extends west of the Mississippi River to Denver, north of St. Louis, Mo. The Southwestern territory consists of the States of Arkansas, Oklahoma, Texas, and that part of Missouri south of the Missouri River.

On the initiative of the Rock Island-Frisco lines, the rate has been granted by practically all the railroads in the West and the Southwest. That system authorized merchants' rates to trade centres on specific dates. The other roads took similar action to meet the competition. August 1st to 5th, inclusive, with a return limit to August 30th, was the first series of dates announced for New York City.

A second series of dates, August 15th-19th, inclusive, with final return limit to September 13th, is now being arranged from the jurisdiction of the Western Passenger Association and the Southwestern Excursion Bureau. The Rock Island-Frisco system has given notice that it would make the rates on those dates. It is probable, therefore, that the other lines in the respective territories, list of which is given below, will also make the same concession.

The Merchants' Association of New York will send to the retail merchants in Arkansas, Colorado, Iowa, Kansas, Minnesota, Missouri, Nebraska, North Dakota, Oklahoma, South Dakota, New Mexico, Texas, Wisconsin, and the northern part of Illinois, circulars giving full particulars as to the dates, rates, conditions, etc. Local ticket agents in the territory will also be able to supply detailed information.

The following railroads in the West and Southwest are participating in these reduced fares:

WESTERN PASSENGER ASSOCIATION TERRITORY.

Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe, Chicago & Alton, Chicago & Eastern Illinois, Chicago & Northwestern, Chicago, Burlington & Quincy, Chicago, Great Western, Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul, Chicago, Peoria & St. Louis, Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific, Chicago, St. Paul, Minneapolis & Omaha, Colorado & Southern, Denver & Rio Grande, Illinois Central, Iowa Central, Minneapolis & St. Louis, Missouri, Kansas & Texas, Missouri Pacific, Quincy, Omaha & Kansas City, St. Joseph & Grand Island, St. Louis & San Francisco, Union Pacific, Wabash and Wisconsin Central.

SOUTHWESTERN EXCURSION BUREAU TERRITORY.

Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe, Chicago, Rock Island & Gulf, Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific, Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific, (Chic. Dist.,) El Paso & South Western System, Fort Worth & Denver City, Fort Worth & Rio Grande, Gulf, Colorado & Santa Fe, Galveston, Harrisburg & San Antonio, Houston & Texas Central, Houston, East & West Texas, International and Great Northern, Kansas City, Clinton & Springfield, Kansas City Southern, Kansas City, Mexico & Orient, Missouri, Kansas & Texas, Missouri, Kansas & Texas Ry. of Texas, Missouri Pacific—Iron Mountain System, St. Louis & San Francisco, St. Louis, San Francisco & Texas, St. Louis, Southwestern, St. Louis, Southwestern Ry. of Texas, Texas & Brazos Valley, Texas & New Orleans and Texas Midland.

The dates for purchasing tickets are August 15 to 19, inclusive, the passenger being required to leave New York City on the return trip so as to reach original starting point not later than midnight on September 13. On arrival in New York certificates are to be deposited at the offices of the Merchants' Association, 66 Lafayette Street, (formerly Elm Street,) one block north of Worth Street Subway Station. On being identified the return trip certificate will be countersigned and viséd, making it good for one-half the return fare.

OBITUARY NOTES.

JOHN LAVERTY, a well-known commercial traveller, died suddenly at his home, 136 Madison Street, Brooklyn, N. Y., July 30. Though under the doctor's care more or less since last October, and "out of harness," Laverty was confined to his house only a short time. Indeed, the day before his death he joined his family in an outing to Coney Island. On the day of his death he dined as usual with his family. After dinner he went to his room to rest. A little later he was found lifeless in a chair, death apparently having come almost instantly after he reached his room. Laverty was born in New York City, in 1852. After leaving school he obtained employment with Cassell, Petter & Galpin, afterward Cassell & Co., and later the Cassell Publishing Company, working his way up to the position of traveller, his associates being Welsh and Turner. In 1895, when the American corporation of Cassell Publishing Company failed, Laverty joined the travelling force of A. L. Burt & Co. He covered the territory from Bangor, Me., to the Pacific Coast, mostly in the northern part of the country. He came home from his New England trip about the last of October, 1907, and then determined to rest for a time. Unable to gain strength enough to resume his trips, he resigned his position in hopes that as milder weather would set in his complete recovery would be assured. Mr. Laverty was loved and respected by all with whom he came into contact. He stood well with his firm because of his conscientious work; he was well liked by his customers, who regarded him as their friend and councillor, many refusing to make purchases until he had come along to show them what he had to offer; and he was esteemed by his colleagues as a man who was to be depended upon under all circumstances. Mr. Macrae, of E. P. Dutton & Co., who knew Laverty intimately, on learning of his death, wrote to his widow: "Personally, I knew your husband to be a man of rare integrity—and of great kindness of heart. Rarely have I met in life a man so broad and kind and charitable to his fellow-men." Mr. Laverty was one of the charter members of The Booksellers' League, and a member of Bethel Lodge, No. 733, F. and A. M., under whose auspices the funeral service was conducted.

MISS KATHARINE PRESCOTT WORMELEY, who has been best known for her excellent translations from the French, in which field she had been a prolific worker, died August 3 at Jackson, N. H. Miss Wormeley was born in Ipswich, England, January 14, 1830, and was a daughter of Ralph Randolph Wormeley, a Virginian by birth, who became rear-admiral in the English navy, and Caroline Preble Wormeley, a niece of Commodore Edward Preble, founder of the United States Navy. Miss Wormeley came to the United States in girlhood with her sister, Elizabeth Wormeley Latimer, a distinguished author. She took an active interest in the relief of Union soldiers during the war between the States, and at that time she was connected with the United States Sanitary Commission. She wrote a book on the work of the commission in 1863, and also wrote a "Life of Balzac" in 1890, and "The Cruel Side of the War" in 1899. She made the following translations: "Works of Honoré de Balzac," forty volumes, 1883-1897; Molière, six volumes, 1892; "Duc de Saint-Simon," "Versailles Historical Memoirs," twenty volumes, 1898-1901; Daudet's "Tartarin," two volumes, and "Kings in Exile," two volumes, in 1899. Her sister, Elizabeth Wormeley Latimer, who died in 1904, was eight years her senior. Mrs. Latimer published many novels and modern historical works, and until the death of her husband, in 1856, wrote frequently for the magazines. A younger sister, Mrs. Ariane Randolph Wormeley Curtis, wrote "The Coming Woman, or, the Spirit of '76," a parlor play, which had considerable vogue in its day. The three sisters were the joint authors of "Recollections of Ralph Randolph Wormeley, Rear Admiral, R. N., Written Down by His Three Daughters," which was published in 1879.

BRONSON HOWARD, the dean of American dramatists, died on August 4 at the Avon Inn, at Avon-by-the-Sea, N. J. Mr. Howard was born in Detroit, Mich., October 17, 1842, and was educated at Russell's Institute, near New Haven, Conn. It had been his intention to enter Yale, but owing to trouble with his eyes he decided upon a journalistic career. Coming to New York City, he was engaged on various papers for several years, and eventually drifted to London, where he wrote for the Pall Mall Gazette. In 1864 he brought out his first play, "Fantine," founded on Victor Hugo's "Les Misérables." In 1879 Daly brought out his "Saratoga," which made a fortune for Howard and his manager. This was followed by "Diamonds," "Moorcroft," "The Banker's Daughter," "Old Love Letters," "Hurricanes," "Wives," "The Young Mrs. Winthrop," "One of Our Girls," "Aristocracy," "Shenandoah," from which Howard is said to have realized $200,000 alone; "Baron Rudolph," "Met by Chance," "The Henrietta" and "Peter Stuyvesant," the last of which was the joint work of Mr. Howard and Brander Matthews. He founded the American Dramatists Club, and was its first president. He was also prominent in the struggle to obtain proper protection for dramatic copyright.

WILLIAM POTTS, well known in social reform circles, died on July 29 at Philadelphia, where he was born on May 5, 1838. After passing through the schools he was engaged in the insurance and banking business, but early devoted himself to guild and settlement work and political and social reform. He was an officer of a number of societies, including the position of chief examiner for the New York State Civil Service Commission. He was the author of "Noblesse Oblige," "Evolution of Vegetable Life," "Evolution and Social Reform," "The Socialistic Method," "Form and Color in Nature," "The Monetary Problem," "From a New England Hillside" and "More Notes from Underledge." He compiled "Statistics of Societies," and the list of "Publications of Societies" issued by the Office of THE PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY.

SAMUEL ERASMUS MOFFETT, a well-known journalist, one of the editors of Collier's Weekly, was drowned on August 1, while bathing in the surf at Normandie-by-the-Sea. Mr. Moffett was born in St. Louis, Mo., November 5, 1860. His mother was Pamela A. Clemens, a sister of "Mark Twain." He began his journalistic career on the San Francisco Post. After that he was associated with the San Francisco Examiner, and the New York Journal and World. From 1891-1893 he was managing editor of The Cosmopolitan Magazine, and since 1904 he has been connected with Collier's. He was author of "The Tariff—What it is and What it Does," "Chapters on Silver" and "Suggestions on Government."

GEORGE A. RAISBECK, president of the Philip Hake Manufacturing Company of New York City, with his wife, lost their lives on July 27, in Lake Sylvia, Minn. It is thought that Mrs. Raisbeck, while out boating with her husband, fell dead of heart disease into the lake, and that the husband, in trying to recover her body, was drowned.

NOTES ON AUTHORS.

MISS ANNA MCCLURE SHOLL, whose third novel, "The Greater Love," has just been published, is a niece of the distinguished Browning scholar and friend of Browning, Dr. Hiram Corson, who for over thirty years filled the chair of English Literature in Cornell University.

REX BEACH, the novelist, who has just reached Seattle, Wash., from a bear-hunting trip in Alaska, is confined in a local hospital under the care of an eye specialist with a serious attack of iritis, which, it is feared, may result in permanent loss of sight. The affliction resulted from exposure while hunting in the Copper River country.

"THE GENTLEMAN" is the title of a forthcoming romance of the sea by Alfred Ollivant, author of "Bob, Son of Battle." The story, it is said, deals with an attempt by Napoleon to kidnap Nelson during the admiral's visit to England. The "Gentleman" of the story, Napoleon's agent in the attempt, is an Irishman, a soldier, a poet and a peer. The book is described as "an epic of imperialism."

RICHARD WATSON GILDER, who may be called the foremost American poet of to-day, has had conferred upon him by France the Order of the Chevalier of the Legion of Honor. This is a well-deserved compliment, for Mr. Gilder has combined practical service in civic reform with the writing of verse that goes to the heart of city misrule and evil. The first complete edition of Mr. Gilder's poems will be published by Houghton-Mifflin Company in October.

JOURNALISTIC NOTES.

The Franklin Printer is the title of a new monthly magazine devoted to the interests of the Western Master Printers' Association, whose official organ it is, and to the advancement of the printing craft in general. The first issue, dated July, contains an account of the Western Master Printers' Association, with portraits of its officers, also articles of interest to printers on estimates, advertising, cover designs, reciprocity, etc., trade notes and other departments. The subscription price is one dollar a year, and the publishers are The Franklin Association, 150 Pine Street, San Francisco, Cal.

THE GRAFTON PRESS, New York City, has just brought out the first issue of The Grafton Magazine of History and Genealogy, a quarterly periodical. The contents include the address on "The Society of the Cincinnati and its Future," delivered by Charles B. Alexander, of the Pennsylvania Society, before the Rhode Island Society June 4, 1908; an interesting article on "Ideal Newport of the Eighteenth Century," by William B. Weeden, of Providence, whose work as an historical writer is already widely known; "The Strange Story of Roger Williams," by Edmund J. Carpenter, of Milton, Mass., who has made a special study of Roger Williams; also, "The Ancient Stirlings of Cadder, Sheriffs of Sterling, and Some Others," by Albert M. Sterling, the author of "The Sterling Family History," now in process of printing. Miss Catherine V. C. Mathews's story of "Andrew Ellicott, an Astronomer, Surveyor and Soldier of a Hundred Years Ago," supplements very entertainingly some of the features in "Ellicott's Life and Letters" which has recently been published under her editorship. In the genealogical department is an interesting account of the first two immigrants of the Jewett family, and shows their connection with England.

Mr. Laverty was one of the charter members of The Booksellers' League, and a member of Bethel Lodge, No. 733, F. and A. M., under whose auspices the funeral service was conducted.

MISS KATHARINE PRESCOTT WORMELEY, who has been best known for her excellent translations from the French, in which field she had been a prolific worker, died August 3 at Jackson, N. H. Miss Wormeley was born in Ipswich, England, January 14, 1830, and was a daughter of Ralph Randolph Wormeley, a Virginian by birth, who became rear-admiral in the English navy, and Caroline Preble Wormeley, a niece of Commodore Edward Preble, founder of the United States Navy. Miss Wormeley came to the United States in girlhood with her sister, Elizabeth Wormeley Latimer, a distinguished author. She took an active interest in the relief of Union soldiers during the war between the States, and at that time she was connected with the United States Sanitary Commission. She wrote a book on the work of the commission in 1863, and also wrote a "Life of Balzac" in 1890, and "The Cruel Side of the War" in 1899. She made the following translations: "Works of Honoré de Balzac," forty volumes, 1883-1897; Molière, six volumes, 1892; "Duc de Saint-Simon," "Versailles Historical Memoirs," twenty volumes, 1898-1901; Daudet's "Tartarin," two volumes, and "Kings in Exile," two volumes, in 1899. Her sister, Elizabeth Wormeley Latimer, who died in 1904, was eight years her senior. Mrs. Latimer published many novels and modern historical works, and until the death of her husband, in 1856, wrote frequently for the magazines. A younger sister, Mrs. Ariane Randolph Wormeley Curtis, wrote "The Coming Woman, or, the Spirit of '76," a parlor play, which had considerable vogue in its day. The three sisters were the joint authors of "Recollections of Ralph Randolph Wormeley, Rear Admiral, R. N., Written Down by His Three Daughters," which was published in 1879.

BRONSON HOWARD, the dean of American dramatists, died on August 4 at the Avon Inn, at Avon-by-the-Sea, N. J. Mr. Howard was born in Detroit, Mich., October 17, 1842, and was educated at Russell's Institute, near New Haven, Conn. It had been his intention to enter Yale, but owing to trouble with his eyes he decided upon a journalistic career. Coming to New York City, he was engaged on various papers for several years, and eventually drifted to London, where he wrote for the Pall Mall Gazette. In 1864 he brought out his first play, "Fantine," founded on Victor Hugo's "Les Misérables." In 1879 Daly brought out his "Saratoga," which made a fortune for Howard and his manager. This was followed by "Diamonds," "Moorcroft," "The Banker's Daughter," "Old Love Letters," "Hurricanes," "Wives," "The Young Mrs. Winthrop," "One of Our Girls," "Aristocracy," "Shenandoah," from which Howard is said to have realized $200,000 alone; "Baron Rudolph," "Met by Chance," "The Henrietta" and "Peter Stuyvesant," the last of which was the joint work of Mr. Howard and Brander Matthews. He founded the American Dramatists Club, and was its first president. He was also prominent in the struggle to obtain proper protection for dramatic copyright.

WILLIAM POTTS, well known in social reform circles, died on July 29 at Philadelphia, where he was born on May 5, 1838. After passing through the schools he was engaged in the insurance and banking business, but early devoted himself to guild and settlement work and political and social reform. He was an officer of a number of societies, including the position of chief examiner for the New York State Civil Service Commission. He was the author of "Noblesse Oblige," "Evolution of Vegetable Life," "Evolution and Social Reform," "The Socialistic Method," "Form and Color in Nature," "The Monetary Problem," "From a New England Hillside" and "More Notes from Underledge." He compiled "Statistics of Societies," and the list of "Publications of Societies" issued by the Office of THE PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY.

SAMUEL ERASMUS MOFFETT, a well-known journalist, one of the editors of Collier's Weekly, was drowned on August 1, while bathing in the surf at Normandie-by-the-Sea. Mr. Moffett was born in St. Louis, Mo., November 5, 1860. His mother was Pamela A. Clemens, a sister of "Mark Twain." He began his journalistic career on the San Francisco Post. After that he was associated with the San Francisco Examiner, and the New York Journal and World. From 1891-1893 he was managing editor of The Cosmopolitan Magazine, and since 1904 he has been connected with Collier's. He was author of "The Tariff—What it is and What it Does," "Chapters on Silver" and "Suggestions on Government."

GEORGE A. RAISBECK, president of the Philip Hake Manufacturing Company of New York City, with his wife, lost their lives on July 27, in Lake Sylvia, Minn. It is thought that Mrs. Raisbeck, while out boating with her husband, fell dead of heart disease into the lake, and that the husband, in trying to recover her body, was drowned.

NOTES ON AUTHORS.

MISS ANNA MCCLURE SHOLL, whose third novel, "The Greater Love," has just been published, is a niece of the distinguished Browning scholar and friend of Browning, Dr. Hiram Corson, who for over thirty years filled the chair of English Literature in Cornell University.

REX BEACH, the novelist, who has just reached Seattle, Wash., from a bear-hunting trip in Alaska, is confined in a local hospital under the care of an eye specialist with a serious attack of iritis, which, it is feared, may result in permanent loss of sight. The affliction resulted from exposure while hunting in the Copper River country.

"THE GENTLEMAN" is the title of a forthcoming romance of the sea by Alfred Ollivant, author of "Bob, Son of Battle." The story, it is said, deals with an attempt by Napoleon to kidnap Nelson during the admiral's visit to England. The "Gentleman" of the story, Napoleon's agent in the attempt, is an Irishman, a soldier, a poet and a peer. The book is described as "an epic of imperialism."

RICHARD WATSON GILDER, who may be called the foremost American poet of to-day, has had conferred upon him by France the Order of the Chevalier of the Legion of Honor. This is a well-deserved compliment, for Mr. Gilder has combined practical service in civic reform with the writing of verse that goes to the heart of city misrule and evil. The first complete edition of Mr. Gilder's poems will be published by Houghton-Mifflin Company in October.

JOURNALISTIC NOTES.

The Franklin Printer is the title of a new monthly magazine devoted to the interests of the Western Master Printers' Association, whose official organ it is, and to the advancement of the printing craft in general. The first issue, dated July, contains an account of the Western Master Printers' Association, with portraits of its officers, also articles of interest to printers on estimates, advertising, cover designs, reciprocity, etc., trade notes and other departments. The subscription price is one dollar a year, and the publishers are The Franklin Association, 150 Pine Street, San Francisco, Cal.

THE GRAFTON PRESS, New York City, has just brought out the first issue of The Grafton Magazine of History and Genealogy, a quarterly periodical. The contents include the address on "The Society of the Cincinnati and its Future," delivered by Charles B. Alexander, of the Pennsylvania Society, before the Rhode Island Society June 4, 1908; an interesting article on "Ideal Newport of the Eighteenth Century," by William B. Weeden, of Providence, whose work as an historical writer is already widely known; "The Strange Story of Roger Williams," by Edmund J. Carpenter, of Milton, Mass., who has made a special study of Roger Williams; also, "The Ancient Stirlings of Cadder, Sheriffs of Sterling, and Some Others," by Albert M. Sterling, the author of "The Sterling Family History," now in process of printing. Miss Catherine V. C. Mathews's story of "Andrew Ellicott, an Astronomer, Surveyor and Soldier of a Hundred Years Ago," supplements very entertainingly some of the features in "Ellicott's Life and Letters" which has recently been published under her editorship. In the genealogical department is an interesting account of the first two immigrants of the Jewett family, and shows their connection with England.

BUSINESS NOTES.

BOSTON, MASS.—The Students' Law Book Exchange has been removed to 8 Pemberton Square and will hereafter be conducted by its proprietor, G. A. Jackson, under his own name, the business having increased along much broader lines so that its original name has become rather misleading.

CHICAGO, ILL.—George M. Beckwith has opened up a bookstore at 268 East Thirty-fifth Street.

CHICAGO, ILL.—The L. W. Walker Company have succeeded to the publishing business of the Monarch Book Company at 123 Plymouth Court.

GREAT FALLS, MONT.—B. W. Porter & Co., in order to give more attention to their book and stationery departments, have disposed of their drug business.

HONOLULU, T. H.—E. Herrick Brown & Co., who recently bought out the W. C. Lyon Co., Ltd., have purchased the miscellaneous book department of the Hawaiian Board Book Rooms, and occupy the entire ground floor of the Hawaiaian Board Building. Mr. Brown, as already noted, continues as manager of the Hawaiian Board Religious Book Department, which occupies the second floor of the building.

NEW YORK CITY.—Through a fire that broke out in the night of August 4, in the upper floors of the building at Nos. 14 and 16 West Thirty-third Street, causing a damage of about $50,000, Dyrsen & Pfeiffer, importers of and dealers in foreign books, who occupy one of the stores on the ground floor, sustained considerable loss through water and smoke.

SAN FERNANDO, CAL.—The Crosby Book Company has succeeded to the book business of F. H. Crosby.

SAN FRANCISCO, CAL.—Paul Elder & Co. and A. M. Robertson, according to the San Francisco correspondent of The Bookseller, Newsdealer and Stationer, have decided to make their permanent downtown locations on Grant Avenue, near the new fine building of Raphael Weill & Co. This, it seems, has been determined upon as the centre of the best shopping district of the city in the future."

SAN FRANCISCO, CAL.—M. H. Fay, bookseller, has removed to 1239 Van Ness Avenue.

SAN FRANCISCO, CAL.—R. J. Machen, a dealer in subscription books, has recently purchased the book business of J. D. Blake at 654 Market Street.

LITERARY AND TRADE NOTES.

As a result of a strike order more than 2200 employees of the International Paper Company were thrown out of employment on August 3 by the closing down of mills in Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont and New York.

ALBERT T. HUNTINGTON, 1265 Bedford Avenue, Brooklyn, N. Y., has just ready a helpful book for young mothers, entitled "The Baby, its care and development," by Dr. Le Grand Kerr, a well-known authority on the diseases of children.

J. F. MEEHAN, the bookseller of Bath, Eng., has contributed to the Bath Beacon for July an interesting article on Christopher Anstey and his "New Bath Guide," to which Smollett's "Humphrey Clinker" owes much as far as characters and situations are concerned.

WHILE Milton's "Comus" was being performed at Cambridge, Eng., the other day, in honor of his tercentenary, a copy of the work was put up for sale at Sotheby's. It was a copy of the first edition, (1637,) and was bought by Quaritch at £317. Fifty years ago a similar copy fetched £11.

CASSELL & Co. announce a work entitled "Tragic Russia," by Wieslaw Sclavus, translated by the Viscount de Buscancy, written, according to the preface, "from the point of view that such a history as that of Russia is an unanswered argument against despotic power;" also, Clement Shorter's "Napoleon and His Fellow Travellers."

GINN & Co. will publish in the fall a work on "Colonization," by Professor Albert G.

Keller, of Yale. It is a study in founding new societies, and includes the less accessible passages of history, omitting from consideration the English and French colonies and the enterprises of those people who have only lately attempted the work of colonization.

PART of the cargo of the steamship Jeanara, which sailed recently from a Brooklyn, N. Y., pier bound for Australia, consisted of five large cases of books, weighing over a ton. The books were all bound volumes of Sewell Ford's "Side Stepping with Shorty," published early in June of this year by Mitchell Kennerley, and the shipment was a response to a cable order from Melbourne.

THE JOHN LANE COMPANY begin this week the publication of their complete limited edition of the works of Anatole France, who is in this country probably the best known and the least read of living French writers. They have selected "The Mother of Pearl" for the initial volume as an especially fitting example of the art of this French master. This volume will be followed by "The Red Lily," "The Garden of Epicurus," and other well known novels, essays and biographies during the summer and autumn, until the complete works have been issued.

JOHN C. WINSTON & Co. have just issued a handsome volume entitled "Historic Houses and Gardens," by Charles Francis Osborne, assistant professor of the history of architecture in the University of Pennsylvania, with an introduction by Frank Miles Day, former president of the American Institute of Architects. Separate chapters are devoted to thirty of the world's great houses and gardens, from the Achilleion, on the island of Corfu, to the noted show places in Europe, the East, and to the remains of the "floating gardens of Mexico." The final chapter deals with the gardens and grounds of Mount Vernon, and this is all that America has to show in this compilation.

FLEMING H. REVELL COMPANY have just published two books by Edmond Privat, one, "Esperanto at a Glance," and the other, "Esperanto in Fifty Lessons." Mr. Privat is the Swiss representative of the International Society and is now in this country as ambassador of the new tongue. His success at Chautauqua and other summer assemblies is already most remarkable. He has succeeded in organizing a large and enthusiastic American Esperanto Association which has invited the next International Conference to meet at Chautauqua next year, a rather imposing sum of money being already pledged to guarantee the success of the meeting. They will bring out shortly a 600-page "English-Esperanto Dictionary," by Joseph Rhodes.

THE HILLS & HAFELY Co., 27 East Twenty-second Street, New York City, will issue next week a small but choice line of Jewish New Year cards. It consists of 14 designs to retail at five cents, 12 designs to retail at ten cents, and 5 designs to retail at twenty-five cents. The five-cent series comprises folders and leaflets. The ten-cent series are leaflets with handsomely embellished parchment and board covers. The twenty-five-cent series are dainty booklets with ornate covers, hand-painted, inlaid with mother-of-pearl, etc., and tied with silk cord or silk ribbon. These cards appeal to society trade; the designs are seasonable and the mottos and greetings are appropriate. The editions which have been prepared are very limited. Jewish New Year this season falls on September 26, and dealers, in order to secure supplies, should place their orders without delay.

HENRY CAREY BAIRD, 810 Walnut Street, Philadelphia, has written and published for free distribution two tracts, entitled respectively "American and English Banking Contrasted, an issue for Mr. Carnegie, together with an Attempt to Explain the Very Simple Cause of the New York City Bank Crisis of 1907," and "Fiat, the Sign and Token of Real Money Mexico's Fatal Blunder: the Gold Standard." These pamphlets are part of the result of close on to fifty years of study of economic studies. Whether one agrees with Mr. Baird or not, it is always a pleasure to read what he has to say, because he says it all in such an original way and in such incisive language. Although Mr. Baird will be eighty-three years old on the 10th of September next, his hand has lost none of its cunning and he is just as earnest in laboring for the amelioration of the condition of mankind and in the uplifting of his native land as he was half a century ago.

HENRY ALTEMUS COMPANY has just brought out an interesting book, entitled "How to Dress a Doll," by Mary H. Morgan, an experienced teacher of sewing, who knows every difficulty likely to beset little needlewomen. Her aim has been to overcome these difficulties by explaining every process so fully and clearly that even her youngest reader can understand. Frequent reference to a profusion of pictures, diagrams and patterns goes still further toward the simplification of the text. This book is far more than a mere guide to doll dressmaking. It is, in addition, a complete manual of plain sewing. The opening chapters, after giving a multitude of useful hints in regard to sewing in general, tell the child how to thread her needle, how to hold her scissors, how to sit, how to cut out patterns, how to use the thimble, and a thousand little details, which, though commonplace to the expert needlewoman, are Greek to the little beginner.

LONGMANS, GREEN & Co. have in preparation "The Journal of Elizabeth, Lady Holland," (1770-1845,) in two volumes, edited by the Earl of Ilchester; "Some Papers of John Francis, Twelfth Lord Arundell of Wardour," a Count of the Holy Roman Empire, etc., extracted from the manuscript collection of essays and speeches written and delivered by him, with a preface by the Lady Dowager Arundell; "Henry Stuart, Cardinal of York, and His Times," by Alice Shield, with a preface by Andrew Lang; "Sir George Mackenzie, the King's Advocate, (Bludy Mackenzie,) 1636-1691," the first and perhaps the last Jacobite Socialist, by Andrew Lang; "Historical Letters and Memoirs of Scottish Catholics, 1625-1793," in two volumes, by the Rev. W. Forbes-Leith; "Thomas Ken and Izaak Walton," a sketch of their lives and family connection, by E. Marston, "the Amateur Angler," formerly of the firm of Sampson Low, Marston & Co.

HOUGHTON MIFFLIN COMPANY have in preparation for the fall a number of attractive books for young people. Among these are "Mad Anthony's Young Scout," by Everett T. Tomlinson, a Revolutionary story of Philadelphia and Valley Forge; "The Quest Flower," by Clara Louise Burnham, the story of what a winning young girl accomplishes through Christian Science, with illustrations in color by Anna M. Upjohn; "The New Boy," a story of American school life, by Arthur Stanwood Pier; "American Hero Stories," the stories of all the famous American heroes from Columbus to Lincoln, by Eva March Tappan, who will also furnish "Letters from Colonial Children," showing pioneer life from the child's point of view, and "The Chaucer Story Book," in which some of the ever-popular Canterbury tales are retold for young readers; "The Story of a Wireless Telegraph Boy," by John Trowbridge, dealing with the escape of a young revolutionist from Russia; "The Moons of Balbanca," by Mrs. M. E. M. Davis, a story of the doings of some children of the old French quarter of New Orleans; "The Tortoise and the Goose, and other fables of Bidpai," by Maude B. Dutton, some of the most famous Oriental fables rewritten for young readers, with striking illustrations by E. Boyd Smith; also, a new illustrated edition of "When the King Came," by George Hodges. All the volumes, even when not so mentioned, will have illustrations. They are also preparing for children the following volumes of poetry: "The Children's Longfellow," a collection of all the poems which have made Longfellow's name so dear to every child, with illustrations; "The Book of the Little Past," by Josephine Preston Peabody, a collection of charming verses for and about children, with characteristic drawings in color by Elizabeth Shippen Green; also, "Fresh Posies," by Abbie Farwell Brown, with illustrations by Anna M. Upjohn. One of the more important novels that Houghton Mifflin Company are planning to bring out early in the fall is the new story by Mary Johnston, author of "To Have and to Hold," etc., which presents a vivid picture of the exciting early years of the last century—of Jefferson, Alexander Hamilton and Aaron Burr, with old Virginia, with its stately homes, its beautiful women and romantic ideals as a background. It will have a number of illustrations by F. C. Yohn, reproduced in colors. The other story is "The Leaven of Love," by Clara Louise Burnham, the scene of which is at one of the famous winter resorts of Southern California, the plot having to do with the reconciliation of a charming but overwrought woman with her husband, a famous Boston organist. The book will have a frontispiece and cover portrait in color by Harrison Fisher.

THE CLIQUE

(ESTABLISHED 1890)

The Recognized Organ of the Second-Hand Book Trade

THE CLIQUE is read by every bookseller who deals in old books in Great Britain, and by many in the United States and on the Continent.

THE CLIQUE advertises for about 4000 books every week; books which are wanted by its Members; and for which they are willing to pay a fair price.

THE CLIQUE is issued to booksellers only, its motto being "The Trade for THE TRADE." Booksellers can therefore report to our advertisers in confidence that they will not be "cut" by amateur dealers, who are not obliged to make their living by selling books.

THE CLIQUE is the best medium for all advertisements which appeal to booksellers, and its rates are lower than those of any trade paper in the world.

SUBSCRIPTION 6s 6d ($1 50) per annum, post free; but as all subscriptions terminate in December subscribers may deduct 1½d (three half-pence) for each week of the year that has passed.
